68 They never deserved our universal praise and they don't deserve our universal condemnation. There are good police and good police departments and their are bad police and bad police departments. We will always need more good and honest folks in policing, but those folks keep getting driven off and replaced with damned storm troopers in a lot of cities that don't care about law or the well being of people.

99 I collected video all summer of cops attacking citizens trying to defend themselves and their property from Antifa. Not one video of the opposite.

I know sheriff's departments here and there stood up for citizens. But this stormtrooper element you speak of became pervasive while we were backing them.

12 I imagine 90% of those videos are in liberal downtown cities. The majority of the country is normal as well as the police within those cities. Unfortunately DC police have a bad track record of protecting effing antifa and BLM instigators. The patriots numbers are going to be so large at the rally mrc~

▼ North redondo was the worst for cops imo, like they kind of gave up on that sector. I was raised in Man Bch, my mom still lives there, they allow so much development they can afford scores of jonny on the spot cops, yet RB does the same, with the most expensive bldg report in sobay, and it does not buy good coverage.

▼ In "conservative" Idaho there were two incidents that come to mind.
1. Police arrested a woman for allowing her children to play in a public park because "covid."
2. Police, including roof-top snipers, kept the public from attending a public health department meeting because they were protesting lock downs and masks.

10 ▼ I tried out for the police in one city in particular. 95% of the applicants were white males. Can you guess what the police were that were monitoring the testing? Probably 20% were white if memory serves me. That being said this was only one dept from one city but the reason I bring it up is less to do with race but the fact you're not getting top applicants with any merit, atleast in this particular force.

The thought of having to shoot police in civil unrest situations horrifies me because of what it means.

UN personal, not so much beyond the basic act of killing another person. They're damn near open game, especially if they're assaulting or shooting my countrymen.

3 You are not hearing about the good cops. When cops refuse to enforce covid lock downs, you are not hearing about it. There are no videos of it because its a non event.

I went to weekly Stop the steal rallies. The police were 100% on the side of patriots when antifa/blm showed up. They protected the people at the rally turning their backs to us and forming a protective barrier facing antifa. Our group included many people open carrying ar15s and they chose sides and faced off against antifa. One of the antifa leaders was screaming at one of the officers in charge, "why do you always take their side!". He responded, "because you brought shields to push through people and they are here just having a bar b que".

Antifa sent scouts to our rally ahead of their main force. They tried to blend in but trannies cannot blend the police didn't care.

So no, you are simply not hearing about the incidents when the cops protect proud boys and other patriot groups.

1 I understand there are good cops, but how many of these Salem cops were in that number? This wasn't a split second call with ambiguous circumstances, this was a planned and directed effort. And it's getting more common.

Pardon the hyperbole, but when a single cop behaves this way and nothing happens it's unacceptable. When entire departments are allied with unlawful forces and police orgs won't speak out against it, I have to wonder what's happening behind the scenes.

25 Welcome to 2021.

The commies are mad about us trolling them. Kate brown sicked antifa in Oregon for trying to recall her. She said it was "global warming" and that it would be an annual thing. Quite the threat. You can't light shnit here without accelerant. Also Forest management is Oregon's pride, for now. But for real everything is so wet along I5. I've got 19 arsonist articles.

"Brown changed the laws concerning petition print outs"

<https://ktvz.com/news/2020/09/02/failed-recall-effort-is-blamed-on-covid-19/>

If the local godvernment is run by these people (like dc) the police are attack dogs at best.

21 We need leaders that can help those standing up for our country. Most of these officers are ill-informed and have despicable leadership. Trump needs to come out and ACTUALLY announce what these patriots are trying to accomplish and demand they be treated with respect.

18  Most of these officers are ill-informed

Anyone that is "ill-informed" at this point no longer has an excuse as it is now willful ignorance. If they are supporting this they get what they deserve.

14 ▼ Oath breakers is what they are. They're not protecting and serving. "Just following orders" isn't an acceptable excuse either. If they're too stupid and robotic to analyze their orders and their own actions they shouldn't be in the line of duty.

Ever since about October I've really been questioning if back the blue is good anymore.... They're turning in to the SS. In my particular area (rural) this isn't an issue, but there aren't any protests or riots for them to watch over. I wonder how they'd be if there were any.

6 The day is coming when the police will have chosen their side and will have to deal with the consequences. They may just be aware that the Proud Boys and Patriot Prayer would absolutely demolish Auntqueefa and they just don't want the paperwork. The 6th is coming awfully quick ;)

6 “ The day is coming when the police will have chosen their side

They've already chosen.

They've been given rights that you won't ever have, unless you become one of them. Think about that; there is a Law Enforcement Officers Bill of Rights in every state of the USA.

What makes non-police officers think that they will ever be on their side? What incentive would they ever have to stoop that low? You can't even sue them... even if they were ever to be found guilty, the fines would be paid with your taxes.

Cops aren't your friend. They weren't your friend. They're not going to be your friend either.

Those who are paid to dispense violence will only respond to violence.

2 I don't believe all police are bad. I seriously do not think all police officers are good either. a million people can easily walk through 1000 officers like a hot knife thru butter. The second we're no longer afraid of them is the second they figure out where they stand.

▼ permalink parent save report block reply▲ OMC-RADIO 3 months ago +3 / -0

3 “ I don't believe all police are bad.

Then why are there corrupt officers in the first place? Shouldn't the good officers report/turn in bad? Are they complicit? Why would they just look the other way? If someone was hurting someone

Not anymore.

1 Because they're human beings. Period. There are good people and bad people. There are corrupt people and those that are not. My point is quite literally, the good ones will step back and they will be on the right side of history. The others, fuck em.

2 My friend, the trouble is... the good ones don't step back. They can't.

In fact, the good ones are pressured to go along with the bad, to turn their eyes away. There is no oversight, no way to root out corruption. The good, suffer the bad... the bad, well they just keep going and get worse.

2 Of course not all. How many do you think haven't violated the law and human rights during the course of their jobs? 2 in 100? 3?

0 You're special.

5 City cops are just lowbie scrubs. Kinda like Junior Enlisted who just do what the fuck the twat waffle Captain ▼ says. County Sheriffs departments still get my respect.

Like Cube said, "Fuck the Police". We are all hood rats now.
